DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 2. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by US patent No. 6,170,000 ("Bories et al.").

Regarding claims 1 and 16, Bories et al. teach a portable communication device (10) comprising:

a plurality of keys (48) (see Fig. 3, Col. 5, lines 3-14) arranged in an ordered array (phonetic keypad), each key being associated with a phonetic consonant (44) and a phonetic vowel (46) wherein the phonetic consonants and vowels are Korean Jamos symbols used to generate Korean Hangul characters (See Fig. 2, Col. 4, lines 29-43), a controller (16) coupled to the plurality of keys (12), the controller being capable of detecting a first selection of the plurality of keys (key actuation) and associating the first selection to a particular phonetic consonant of the selected key, the controller also being capable of detecting a second selection of the plurality of keys and associating the second selection to a particular phonetic vowel, the second selection being subsequent to the first selection (syntax rule), and a display (26) coupled to the controller (16), the display being capable of displaying the particular phonetic consonant and the particular phonetic vowel (See Fig. 1, Col. 3, line 65 to Col. 4, line 22).

Regarding claims 2-4, these claims have limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 5, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 6, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 7, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 8, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claims 9 and 13, Bories et al. further teach that the key assignment is software definable by the way the key strobes take place (See Col. 5, lines 15-25).

Regarding claim 10, this claim have limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 11, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Regarding claim 12, this claim has limitation that is similar to those of claim 1, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 1 above.

Application/Control Number: 10/005,718

Art Unit: 2663

Regarding claims 14-15, these claims have limitation that is similar to those of claim 13, thus it is rejected with the same rationale applied against claim 13 above.
